BACK STAGE

It's kind of scary to say hello to everyone considering how long it's been since the last volume was released. Hello! I'm Kouru Ozaki! (greeting) I'm the author who's been lucky enough to keep continuing this manga. The only reason I can do that is because of all of you, my readers. To all of you, thank you so much!

Shirayuki

My wife will also read this chapter, so I'll read it out loud.

As to why this volume took so long to come out, I took a brief break from the main storyline to work on a story involving Riku and Blackbeard's grandfather.

*I really wanted to draw that story, even though it meant this volume wound up taking so much longer to be completed. The book is called Shirayuki of the East and two just came out, so now that you've finished this volume, please go give the story a try!*

*I've been trying to recruit an assistant,
but with all of the applications I received, either they didn't fit close enough, or our schedules didn't line up, so in the end, I was unable to find one. I received a lot of wonderful applications. I'd like to thank everyone who sent them in, and apologize that things didn't work out.*

I have to handle all the applications myself. I am really sorry.

So I've wound up drawing nearly all of Immortal Run by myself. While attempting to retain my sanity and manage other details of my work, I received a lot of support from my family, my friends, and my editor. To everyone, thank you so much! I especially want to thank my mother and my boss. I'm so happy that I was able to keep drawing.

*And no, I've finished the 9th volume of Immortal Run.
If you was an RPG, I'd have transcended the Final Boss! <-----*

*Being able to come this far with this story is something I always dreamed of.
I can't help but feel sort of anxious.
I start thinking about it- I think about reaching the end.*

But I manage to find my sister-and I'm able to remember to distance myself from whatever I'm drawing.

*So just once more, we're diving into the darkness. We'll see what winds up coming to the surface.
Let's watch together, to the very end.*

See You
Next!!
